Code of conduct

All participants (i.e., experts, speakers, mentors, students, staff, attendees, exhibitors, etc.) should have the opportunity to enjoy and benefit from all Summer School events and activities. Thus, the organizers are committed to providing at all times a friendly, comfortable, safe, supportive, and harassment-free environment for all participants, regardless of sex, gender, age, sexual orientation, physical appearance, disability, race, ethnicity, religion, or any other group identity. As such, Summer School welcomes diversity and plurality. To provide such an environment, cooperation is expected from everyone, and organizers and staff will actively enforce this code of conduct throughout all events and activities. Violations will not be tolerated and are taken seriously.

What should Summer School participants value?

Appropriate and expected behavior largely follows from core values and principles that underlie all EU-CONEXUS Summer School events and activities. There are:

- Diversity
- Equity
- Inclusion
- Free expression of ideas

It may be at times difficult to balance these values and principles (e.g., free expression of ideas may interfere with equity and inclusion), but nonetheless every effort should be made to reconcile and uphold them.

What is generally expected behaviour?

We seek to provide an environment in which all participants may learn, network, and enjoy the company of each other with mutual respect. All participants thus have a shared responsibility to create and hold that environment for the benefit of all. More specifically, participants are expected to:

- communicate professionally and constructively, whether in person or virtually
- frame discussions as openly and inclusively as possible
- make everyone feel safe and welcome so as to facilitate inclusion and community-building
- be aware of how language or images may be perceived by others
- be open to others' perspectives and alternate points of view (even if not aligning with one's own)
- handle any dissent or disagreement with courtesy, dignity, and an open mind
- provide constructive and respectful feedback
- share any information and experiences in person, virtually, or via public communication responsibly (and distinguish individual and/or group opinions from facts)

What is unacceptable behaviour?

The inverses of the expected behaviors above are, by definition, unacceptable for a healthy environment. However, there are additional behaviors that we explicitly point out here as being particularly problematic and thus prohibited:

- Physical, verbal, sexual, or any other form of discrimination, harassment, intimidation, threat, or abuse in person, in writing, or virtually based on sex, gender, age, sexual orientation, physical appearance, disability, race, ethnicity, religion, or any other group identity
- Sustained disruption of speakers and workflows
- Intoxication

Critical examination of beliefs and points of view does not, by itself, constitute hostile conduct or harassment. Similarly, use of sexual imagery or language in the context of a professional discussion (e.g., about individual differences in sexuality) do not constitute hostile conduct or harassment if it is necessary to the topic of discussion and presented respectfully.

Alcohol may not be brought into Summer School premises, but can be available at evening social networking events and may be consumed only by those of legal age (21 years in the US, mostly 18 years in Europe). Alcohol at Summer School events will only be distributed by commercial hosts (e.g., restaurants, cafes bars) following local and state statutes, which may include limiting consumption. Because excessive alcohol leads to impaired decision-making, intoxication should be avoided at any point during Summer School.

What are the consequences of unacceptable behaviour?

If an attendee engages in any unacceptable behavior, the organizers and staff will determine and carry out the appropriate course of action, including warning the offender, expulsion from Summer School with no refund, and/or banning the offender from future events and activities.

Participants who are asked to stop any unacceptable behavior are expected to comply immediately. If this is not the case or if the unacceptable behavior is deemed too severe, then organizers and staff retain the right to take any actions to keep the event a welcoming environment for all participants.

What should I do in case of problems?

If you perceive any violations or unacceptable behaviour towards you or others (physically present or not) or have any concerns or questions, please do not hesitate to contact us immediately or as soon as possible. Concerns and names will be held as confidential and anonymous as wished. All occurring matters shall be handled as swiftly as possible.

The European University for Smart Urban Coastal Sustainability (EU-CONEXUS) is a transnational European higher education and research institution that covers smart urban sustainable coastal development from a global point of view, relying on an interdisciplinary, trans-sectoral and trans-national approach.

The competitive advantage of EU-CONEXUS is based on the identified thematic orientation of its educational programmes, research areas and its comprehensiveness that is achieved by joining forces and assembling the complementary expertise of the partner universities and associated partners.
