

The Mediterranean mystery

The Mediterranean mystery

Broken by boundaries,

And a tangled history,

Long behold! The Mediterranean mystery.

Chasing the ancient glory of the sea and its memories,

Only to find a trail of sorrow and tragedies.

Echoes of pain that never leave the hearts,

Of people driven away from their land, torn apart.

But the joy of the people shall rest in peace,

In a land that shares the light of reconciliation's release.

Where varied traditions and cultures entwine,

Awakening the spirit of unity, divine.

From the tip of the pyramids to Pompeii's ashes,

It's time to embrace the legacy that time rehashes.

Let our hands unite through the sapphire belt,

To forge a new history, where hope is truly felt.

A future of peace, where cultures intertwine,

A present far better, by our shared design.
