Explain in few sentences your short and medium-term career goals. To what extent does working on this thesis align with your overall professional project? What are your professional or academic plans after completing the thesis? (max 250 words).

6. Analysis of the thesis subject

Please analyse the thesis subject you are applying for. Describe the scientific challenges (in relation with SmUCS¹ aspects) and potential impact, explain how you intend to conduct your research project (pointing out the novelty of the approach and proposed methodology) and highlight your skills and competences for this particular research project (max 2 500 words - approximately 4 pages).

¹ The concept of Smart Urban Coastal Sustainability (SmUCS) means focusing on education, research, innovation and knowledge sharing to better understand and address the challenges faced by communities in urban and semi-urban coastal areas. This includes issues related to rivers, seas and oceans.

The Smart Urban Coastal Sustainability is not simply a thematic topic, but rather a challenge-driven field of education and research. Coastal zones act as transition zones between inland areas and the deeper parts of the sea, where social and economic activities interact with valuable and unique coastal ecosystems. Activities along our coasts, whether direct or indirect, have an impact on these ecosystems by providing a variety of goods and services. The way in which urban coastal environments and societies function and evolve in the face of climate change and increasing human pressure is a major challenge addressed by Smart Urban Coastal Sustainability (SmUCS).
